OPIMUM CONFERENCE.

SMUGGLING EVIL GROWING.

HONGKONG'S BAD RECORD.

MALAY PENINSULA CRITICISED.

(Reuter's Service.)

GENEVA, November 5.
At the Opium Conference to-day, Mr. S. Kakitani, the Japanese Delegate, said the suppression of opium-smuggling in Japan was absolute.
Prince Chaozon (Siam), outlined the restrictive measures in Siam. He said he hoped neighbouring countries would assist in the gradual suppression.
Sir Malcolm Delevigne (Britain), drew attention to smuggling, which in the past three years has become worse in the Far East, particularly in Hongkong, where as much opium is imported illicitly as legally. Sir Malcolm declared the Malayan Peninsula was not so bad, but there was considerable smuggling between the Far East and Straits Settlements.

CHINA VS. INDIA.

The afternoon's sitting was occupied exclusively by a written statement from Dr. Alfred Sze, which led to a friendly passage of arms between the Chinese delegation and Mr. Campbell, (India). The Chinese statement declared China was suffering from acts of individuals, over whom there was no control, owing to the obligation imposed upon China to concede extra-territorial rights to nationals of certain Powers. Opium was not indigenous to China, but was introduced from abroad.

THE OLD OLD STORY.

China's attempt to curtail the smuggling of opium, the statement continued, had not met with the co-operation of those Powers, whose nationals were engaged in the traffic. Production of opium in China had practically ceased in 1917 when the British had agreed that Indian Opium should not be exported to China. No Power was more concerned than China with regard to the total suppression of the use of prepared opium. This result could not be hoped for without the whole-hearted co-operation of all Powers possessing territorial interests in China.

POLITICAL UNREST BLAMED.

The statement admitted that the Chinese Government regretted the recrudescence of the cultivation of the poppy and production and use of prepared opium in view of the temporary disturbed political conditions in China. The Chinese people were suffering, owing to foreign-grown opium being smuggled into China. Also a large amount of foreign-manufactured narcotics were illegally introduced and sold in China.

The statement concluded by suggesting that the smoking of prepared opium be declared harmful and therefore illegitimate; that the importation of opium except for medicinal and scientific uses be immediately forbidden; that export like wise be prohibited; that these undertakings be applied to the colonies, and dependencies agreeing with the Powers that the use of prepared opium be forbidden, excepting to addicts requiring special treatment.

CHINESE ACCURACY QUESTIONED.

Mr. C. S. Campbell, the delegate from India, questioned the accuracy of several Chinese statements. He added half the opium smuggled into Burma came from China. The same thing occurred in Hongkong and the Straits Settlements.
Mr. Chu denies he ever admitted the accuracy

U.S. ELECTIONS.

CALVIN COOLIDGE CHOSEN.

BOOM ON STOCK MARKET.

LATEST FIGURES AVAILABLE.

(Reuter's American Service.)

NEW YORK, November 6.
President Calvin Coolidge has been re-elected for a further term.
A sharp rise in prices and an unusually heavy volume of dealings on the Stock Exchange followed the Republican victory.
The total sales in the first fifteen minutes exceeded 100,000 shares.

WORKING MAJORITY UNCERTAIN.

The receipt of returns from 346 out of 435 congressional districts and 19 out of 34 senatorial contests leaves it uncertain whether a landslide in favour of President Coolidge will carry with it sufficient Republican gains in the two Houses to give the President a full working majority in Congress.

With 183 Republican and 163 Democrat Congressmen elected, the turnover has only been twelve in favour of the Republicans or five less than normally to enable the Representatives majority to control the opposition supported by Senator La Follette.

STATE GOVERNORS.

CHEYENNE, November 5.

The election of Mrs. Nellie Ross (Democrat), widow of the late Governor Ross, to the governorship of Wyoming State, has been conceded by the State newspaper.

The election of "Ma" Ferguson, of Texas, has not yet been conceded by her opponent, although the figures up to now show her to be leading.

FIRST OFFICIAL RECOUNT.

NEW YORK, November 6.

The latest official recount is as follows as regards electoral votes:

President Coolidge	343
Mr. John Davis	136
Senator La Follette	13

UNOFFICIAL FINAL FIGURES.

The unofficial final figures are:

GIANT AIRSHIP.

VICKERS' LATEST PLAN.

(Reuter's Service.)

LONDON, November 6.

Speaking at a luncheon at Sheffield, Sir Trevor Dawson announced that Messrs. Vickers & Co. had made a contract to construct an airship of 5,000 capacity.

It will be twice the size of Z.R.3.

of the International Anti-Opium Association's estimate of the annual production of opium in China, placed at 15,000 tons.

The conference adjourned in order to enable the delegates to examine the Chinese statement.

WAR IN CHINA.

EXPEDITION IS PLANNED TO EVICT FENG.

(Reuter's Service.)

PEKING, November 5.
The "North China Daily News" says that eight provinces, Kiangsu, Anhui, Kiangsi, Hubei, Shensi, Honan, Chekiang and Fukien, through the Provincial Governments, have decided on a unified policy in order to maintain peace in Yangtze and Central China, and have requested Chi Hsiang-yuan to assume the leadership.
The "China Press" reports that Chi Hsiang-yuan last night issued a proclamation announcing an expedition against Feng Yuxiang.

Miscellaneous News.
The following items are culled from the "Daily Bulletin," and all bear the Peking date of November 5.

The House of Representatives, this afternoon, discussed President Tsao Kuo's resignation.

The supporters of Wu Ching-lian, a former Speaker, contended that the question was so important that Wu Ching-lian must resume the Speakership before the question could be dealt with.

Wu Ching-lian's opponents strongly protested, and the meeting ended without result.

A special meeting of the House of Representatives was held this afternoon to deal with President Tsao Kuo's resignation.

Railway Communication.
Foreign military authorities at Peking have communicated with the Chinese Government regarding the railway communication between Peking and Shanghai.

Yeh Kuo-shan, the former leader of the Chinese Nationalist Government, has been placed in the Ministry of Finance, converting the Peking Government into the Third Brigade of the Third Nationalist Army, commanded by Sun Yuxi.

PROPERTY WITHDRAWN.

POOR BIDDING AT SALE YESTERDAY.

At Messrs. Lamert's sale rooms yesterday afternoon, bidding was extremely poor for a lot consisting of a house and land at Mongkoktsai, and the property was eventually withdrawn.

The lot in question is known as Kowloon Island Lot No. 940, upon which is erected the Building No. 11 Hong Lok-street. The lease runs until 1925 at a Crown rent of $3.50, the area being 990 square feet.

Started at $10,000 by the auctioneer, the property after a long interval found a prospective purchaser for another $100, and another bid much later put the price up yet another $100.

Although there was a fairly large attendance there, were no further bids and at $10,200 the property was withdrawn.

as possible.

Mr. Whang's whereabouts.

An eye-witness says that Mr. Whang was still at Tientsin at 6.30 on the evening of November 3, which is the last authentic report regarding Mr. Whang's whereabouts.

Mandates.

Mandates have been issued placing the Wine and Tobacco Administration under the Ministry of Finance, converting the Peking Government into the Third Brigade of the Third Nationalist Army, commanded by Sun Yuxi.

Yeh Kuo-shan, the former leader of the Chinese Nationalist Government, has been placed in the Ministry of Finance, converting the Peking Government into the Third Brigade of the Third Nationalist Army, commanded by Sun Yuxi.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.

GREAT GISH COMEDY FULL OF FUN.

Thrills and laughter are happily combined in Dorothy Gish's latest Paramount comedy, "The Ghost in the Garret," which will be shown at the Queen's Theatre to-day. That this is one of the best comedies in which Miss Gish has been seen for many months all her admirers will agree after they have seen the picture.

Miss Gish, in the story is a poor girl who goes to the home of her wealthy uncle and aunt, taking her dog and parrot with her. The dog puts a fashionable party to rout and from that moment the action is not permitted to drag for an instant. Then comes the theft of a valuable pearl necklace by a society crook who flees with his booty to a haunted house where his pals are hiding. Going in pursuit of the thief to protect her sweetheart, who has been arrested for the theft, she finally recovers the jewels after a series of thrilling and laughable developments.

The charming star is excellently supported in the picture by her leading man, William E. Park. The crook is in the hands of Ray Gray. The picture was directed by F. Richard Jones.

Visitors to the House of Parliament recently numbered 23,618, a record.

Colonel W. A. S. Howett, of Cambridge, York, is the new rector of Great St. Martin, Middlesex.

Mr. Herbert Walker, ex-Mayor of Whitehaven, Cumberland, has been elected to the new post of Mayor of Whitehaven.

MT. ST. MICHAEL.LAND OF LEGEND.

It must have been the town of Mt. St. Michael in Brittany that fell asleep for a hundred years while the princess dreamed of the lover who was to awaken her.

Nowhere is a more perfect setting for a fairy tale. The grey walls look down on the surrounding sea; narrow, cobbled streets with unexpected flights of steps, and overhanging, gabled houses wind their way steeply up to the great abbey, whose slender spire and statue of St. Michael crown the mount.

Enter the abbey and you are back in the Middle Ages. Here is the underground cloister where monks used to walk in the ninth century; here the pillared "Salles des Chevaliers" where the knights of France gathered in their gold and purple to receive honours from their king.

You can see the great refectory with its peculiar slanting windows and stone seat where the reader sat at meals; the lofty chapel whose arches are a strange mixture of Gothic grace and Norman strength; and the great battlements, built when the abbey became a fortress.

Everything in Brittany is old.
Through an open cottage door you will catch the gleam of polished wood and burnished brass from some antique Breton wardrobe with spindle carving two or three hundred years old. The rich black velvet dresses, the hand-made lace and embroidered caps worn by the women are handed down from mother to daughter.

The peasants moving the corn in the fields still believe in the black dwarfs of Celtic legend. But then, I, too, could believe anything, having seen those great lines of stone that straggle two miles across the windy moor at Carnac. There, to prostrate the gods of the forest, earth, and waters the Druids offered human sacrifice when the Roman Empire was young.

It was a peasant who told the legend of the town of Ys, which was swallowed up by water because of the wickedness of the king's daughter. So dear was the city to France that another was built to equal it in beauty and call it "Par-Ys" or "Paris."

Such was the legend that inspired Claude Debussy's "La Cathédrale Engloutie," whose weirdly beautiful chords echo the cathedral bells chiming strangely under the sea.

ODDS & ENDS.MAINLY SCISSORS LOOT.*The Price Of Blood.

Yesterday I saw the young doctor who sacrificed a pint of his blood in order to save the life of a young girl. He doesn't regard himself as a hero (remarks a "Daily News" writer). "Why there are people who make a kind of profession of it," he told me. "They have themselves put on a surgeon's list as willing at any time to have blood transfused at the price of something like eight guineas a pint.
They make up the lost pint in a day or two." Some of these heroes feel a little weak after the operation, but others are none the worse. Those whose blood is of the greatest financial value to them are those who belong to "Group 4." Whereas others can only give blood profitably to members of their own blood-group, their blood is of use to all.

Ayr Race Centenary.

A hundred years have come and gone since the Western (Ayr) meeting, by far the most important racing fixture in Scotland, was first instituted. Records show that previous to the year 1770 races were run on the sands at Ayr. It was in that year, however, that the old course (now used as a municipal golf course) then a tannery on which cows grazed, was enclosed by the Corporation of that time and vested in the stewards of the race-meeting, so long as the races should continue to be run at Ayr. The town provided £25 in stakes in these far-off days. In 1824 the combination of races called the Western Meeting, was organised for the three counties of Ayr, Renfrew, and Wig-town. There were 100 members connected with the Meeting, and each of them subscribed three guineas per annum. The old course grew too small, and these at the head of affairs were forced to look elsewhere, and to-day we have the famous Craigie Course inaugurated in 1907 and popular with owners and trainers from far and near.

A Lady Among The Snakes.

Miss Joan Proctor, who came to the Zoological Gardens last year as Curator of Reptiles, has the wonderful faculty of sympathy with animals of all kinds (says the "Children's Newspaper"). Although she is quite young, Miss Proctor is in entire charge of all the snakes, alligators, crocodiles, lizards, and tortoises at the Zoo,
and the keepers of the Reptile House think there is no one like her. Miss Proctor has kept large snakes and little crocodiles as pets at her home in London ever since she was twelve. She handles them now in a marvellous way. "But,
of course," said Miss Proctor, "no one here handles the poisonous reptiles or the big lion-consorters.
They are far too dangerous. It is not that any of the snakes are vicious, but if somebody they knew was handling them when a stranger came into the room they might get frightened and bite. When the venomous snakes have to be removed for any purpose, we use a special apparatus, consisting of rods of iron wire, four or five feet long, on which they are picked up like lumps of rope, and put into a tin, the lid of which is slammed down quickly. As for the big python, when we want to clean his cage, we shut him off behind sliding doors of steel." Miss Proctor has a great deal of work to do in the little hospital and dispensary which she has opened on the upper floor of the Reptile House. Snakes suffer from abscesses and diseases of jawbone, lizards get bronchitis, tortoises get pneumonia, and they all are inclined, when first they arrive in the Zoo, to go on hunger-strike through fright or sulks.
Even to-day there is an old groundiguana, four feet long, which must be fed by hand with special yams, sent every day from a West End store. The idea that giant snakes are given live animals to eat is wrong. The pythons get chickens, rabbits, and even goats, but not live ones. Live grass snakes are, however, given as food to the King Cobra.

Travel Of The Future.

Travelling in the future will be done more and more under ground, and not by overhead railways in the American style, because the overhead stage will be required for air transport landing grounds," declared Professor Low, the scientist and authority on traffic problems, who visited Wembley Exhibition in order to examine the Neverstop Railway, which has been regarded in some quarters as a possible solution of the London traffic problem. The professor pointed out the absurdity of having to land in an aeroplane at Croydon, and then journey to the City, when it ought to be possible to alight on the roof of a London shop. He described the Neverstop Railway as a wonderful invention, which should prove of immense value, but he considered it had certain disadvantages in respect of long distances and high speed. It would probably prove of tremendous value in the transport of goods, but he did not think it would replace existing railways.

Waterloo Bridge.

The temporary wooden bridge which is to be used while Waterloo is widened or reconstructed is being built within a few feet of the existing bridge, on the east side, and will be curved slightly at each end in order to be brought up to and to join the present approaches.
The wooden bridge will have a carriage way 20 feet wide, which, though 74 feet less than that of Waterloo will be just sufficient to permit of one line of traffic each way. There will be a speed limit, as there is now over the repaired arches of Waterloo, and also a weight restriction, but no doubt motor omnibuses, as they do now, will come within this limit. The final design of the temporary bridge is dependent to some extent on the question whether Waterloo is to be settled. It will be next summer before the temporary structure is completed, and it will probably be two or three years before the existing bridge will be seen in its new form.

QUESTIONS WOMEN ASK.

"Why do I continually suffer? What am I to do to regain health? These are questions many women are despairingly asking themselves as they feel strength and vitality steadily diminishing day by day."

The trouble with most of these women lies in the blood. They are anemic—a condition especially common in the Far East—and because of this anemia or blood poverty, the bodily functions have lost regularity, the digestion has grown weak, the nerves have become run-down, the eyes lack lustre, the glow of health has faded from lips and cheeks, despondency and pains have taken the place of that joyous care-free vigor which should be every woman's birthright.

What is the remedy? It is to restore to the blood, through the medium of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, the redness, richness and strength which it lacks and whereby new life, new energy, new health, may be carried through the veins to the nerves, to the organs, to every part of the system. Dr.
Williams' Pink Pills have been doing just this work for over five-and-thirty years it is for this reason that they are famous as a Blood and Nerve Tonic remedy throughout the world.

No matter whether you are man or woman, if you are a sufferer from any malady due to impure weak blood or anemia, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will do you good. Your chemist sells them, or post free, $1.50 per bottle, $5.00 for 6 bottles, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 60, Kingston Road, Shanghai.

Ball Across America.

The United States Army showed much ingenuity in a recruiting scheme they adopted recently (observes the "Children's Newspaper"). A huge rubber push-ball, seven feet in diameter, and weighing 350 pounds, was actually rolled across the continent by a recruiting squad. It was painted red, white, and blue, and when a crowd gathered on passing through a town, the officers addressed it on the advantages of an army career. It is said to have been a most successful advertising scheme, and to have resulted in large numbers of young men joining the colours.

A Huge Fortune.

Two Dunoon ladies are likely to fall heir to a huge Australian fortune. Last February, the Crown Agents for Australia advertised for claimants to the estate of Andrew Rutherford, who died at Perth, Australia, leaving a fortune which is estimated to be about a million and a half. On their attention being drawn to the notice, the two Dunoon ladies—Misses Alice and Polly Rutherford—entered their claim, in the belief that the man who had left the fortune was their grandfather, who had been employed as a gamekeeper on the estate of Lord Kinross, in Perthshire, before he emigrated to Australia. It was known that, after residing in many different places, he ultimately settled in Perth, where he built up a big business and amassed a fortune.

Interviewed in her shop in Argyll Street, Dunoon, Miss Alice Rutherford stated that it was too soon yet to make a definite statement. Negotiations had been going on since February, and,
although the trend of these was distinctly hopeful, her solicitors advised her to remain silent on the subject.

Lord Inchcape.

Lord Inchcape, a past chief of the Scottish Clans Association of London, and one of Scotland's wealthiest sons, was 79 last month.
Born in Aberdeen, he did odd jobs about a sail cloth factory, including the scrubbing of floors, before, as Mr. James Lyle Mackay, he went out to India as a clerk for the British India Steam Navigation Company. So successful was he that his Calcutta chief cabled to London, "Please send us another Mackay." At 30 he was a partner, and to-day he is chairman of the P. and O. Company, and interested in many huge concerns.
He has served on the Council of Secretary of State for India and on important Government Commissions. He is deeply interested in the welfare of London Scottish clanries. His heir is his son, the Hon. Kenneth Mackay.

Music And Meals.

It is suggested, I observe (says a "Daily News" writer) that mealtime music is a menace to the public health; that jazz bands make jaded digestions. There is, at any rate, one thing to be said for the modern jazz band. No one can accuse it of being instrumentally deficient, and even in this matter of indigestion the difficulty can, I believe, be overcome. It is most probably but a matter of synchroniz-ing tunes and chews. At present we are suffering because we have been attempting to eat beef steak to a tune suitable only for meringues. Steak, to be enjoyed, requires some of Handel's slow music for accompaniment. Whilst the band plays "Yes, we have no bananas," we do not bite the steak;
we at most only bend it. I suggest, then, that in future chefs and conductors of orchestras should collaborate to advise the public upon the choice of meals to suit the tunes. Some standard work of reference might well be produced by say, Sir Henry Wood and Elocifer.
And in the restaurants, instead of the usual board indicating the number of the item on the programme, we should look for something like this:—Refreshments suitable for next item.

FOUL PLAY.

BODY FOUND WITH STAB WOUNDS.

The body of an unidentified Chinese woman, which was found in a nullah at Wanchai Gap Road, was removed to the Public Mortuary yesterday. Foul play is suspected as there were two stab wounds in the head and a rope had been tied round the neck.

STAMP COLLECTING.

INTERESTING AND IN-STRUCTIVE HOBBY.

Stamp collecting as a hobby only started in England in 1892, and in France a little before this, and one of the early collectors, who was also very well known as a writer on the subject, was a woman, Miss Fenton.

Nowadays the hobby is increasing in favour among women, their interest in it often being aroused by the enthusiasm of their children, and several women have valuable collections, some worth as much as $5,000.

Hobbies are often rather costly, but a great advantage of stamp collecting is that the expense incurred can be regulated by the income of the collector, the sum spent varying from a few pence, or even shillings, up to hundreds a year. Also the collection may itself become an asset, as many stamps increase in value as time goes on. But the true philatelist would scorn to start collecting merely from a view to the ultimate monetary value of her collection.

In starting a collection the first thing for the woman to do who wishes to become a collector is to visit a good stamp dealer and buy a general book on the subject and what is known as a "variety" packet of stamps. The stamp album may be purchased at the same time, and it is wise not to start with too large or handsome a volume, as after a time collectors nearly always specialise in one particular thing, and this may necessitate a new book.

Most Englishwomen specialise in stamps from Great Britain and the Colonies, as they do not send out so many speculative issues. The Wembley stamp is the first commemorative stamp that Great Britain has ever issued.

SHANGHAI'S LATEST HOTEL.

"MAJESTIC" PALACE OF PLEASURE.

BALL-ROOM WITH SPRING FLOOR.

Thus the North China "Daily News" describes the Majestic Hotel in Shanghai:

The picture as a whole is that of a lovely villa or Italian country estate, the main portion of the building facing across the larger portion of 60 mow, fronted by promenade and lovely sunken gardens in which the imported Japanese gold fish-scumper round under the splashing fountain. Tropical trees and plants and others of temperate climates, scattered in careless, yet careful manner, combine to make an element of grandeur that does not fail to impress in its simplicity. To the right of the building and to an observer's left, who faces it, stand the kitchen and gowns, most modern and complete in every respect. To the left of the immediate stand the Winter garden, the new and spacious ball room and the Italian Garden for summer use, while the lovely green lawn, more resplendent than a cricket turf, invites one to its umbrageous canopies for a siesta or a promenade, night or day.

RESTFUL LUXURIOUSNESS.

Entering the revolving front door, the public entrance from Avenue Road, one steps through the immediate vestibule in to a larger room for a moment's observation. The 17 different colours of real Italian marble are extraordinarily well blended in spite of the riot of shades. Here one steps to the right to leave coats and wraps, while in the distance the hotel dining room looms large with its heavy plush carpets and a surrounding colonnade of 22 golden pillars conceal the screened steam radiators. To add to the pleasure of dining in restful luxuriosness, the shell above, houses at appropriate moments the musicians, the Moscow Trio, brought from that city.

Turning to the right from the dining corridor one enters the library and smoking rooms and then the main lobby, though to call it a lobby is a misnomer. The library, finished in lighter colour, is a paradise for the bookman. If one desires philosophy, the mood must be satisfied not here, but with book in hand in an adjoining "den," with its atmosphere heavy with Chinese panelling and pictures, the newly decorated sofas and easy chairs, and blue silk the motif.

G. $12,000 PIANO.

But the drawing room, done in gold, cream and Austrian oak, was selected by Mrs. McBain, herself, who travelled to the Continent and actually chose the logs from which her furniture was to be made, and her superintended its construction in the French style. Upon the transfer of the property the family left everything as it stood, taking but a few of personal relics and their personal clothing. Here in the drawing room still remains the lovely grand piano, in rich brown, which cost no less $12,000, an instrument that Paderewski would be delighted with to enchant his musical audiences. The beauty of finish of this marvel would be lost anywhere but in a drawing room, for it is a replica of the original at Versailles, as is the clock setting on the marble fire place. It cost $600.

In the lobby or lounge seven tons of brownish marble, most of it in two main slabs—no veneer here—make an imposing fireplace, which is surmounted by a lovely picture "Morn, Noon and Night," by Arts and Crafts, who by the way, have executed most of the alterations within the building itself. The heavy marble staircase, rising over the well-stuffed chairs, settees and lounges, adorned with marble facings, provides more splendour.

In the 31 suites of rooms not a single detail to ensure the guests' comfort is lacking, from the latest American solid bath tubs to the electric showers.

To really appreciate this wonderful establishment, the visitor must really make more than a casual inspection, for the grandeur is at first glance overwhelming and the more intimate touches, such as tables and beds, are overlooked.

THE MAGNIFICENT BALL-ROOM.

The interest of the larger number of Shanghai people who will become familiar with the ball room of course in the new ball-room. It will be entertained to-morrow 800 diners and dancers. Differing as this room does from the elegance of the Astor House ball-room, the lightness and extreme

NEW QUEST.

INTO A LAND OF DEATH.

London, Sept. 15.—At White Rock, a picturesque house on the outskirts of Bournemouth, in the New Forest, yesterday, Lady (Richmond) Brown, the only white woman to penetrate into the wilds of British Honduras, met Mr. F. A. Mitchell Hedges, with whom she shared last year in the discovery of a city thought to be one of the earliest settlements created by the great Maya civilisation as yet found in Central America. They discussed with Mr. H. A. J. Joyce, of the British Museum, and Dr. Morley, of the Carnegie Institution, another expedition which is to be undertaken by Mr. Mitchell Hedges and Lady (Richmond) Brown next month.

"We shall leave Liverpool in October for Belize, in British Honduras, on our seventh expedition," Mr. Hedges told a "Daily Mail" representative. "The party will consist of myself, Lady (Richmond) Brown, Dr. Gann, the archaeologist, Miss Gladys Houston, who will act as secretary, and 'Robbie,' our black servant, who always accompanies us on our journeys."

"When the wet season stops at the end of January we are going to the great Maya city we discovered last year, to commence excavations in the city now known as Lubaantum (Palace of Fallen Stones)."

Mr. Hedges added that it is believed that discoveries during the excavations may entirely change the present scientific conception of the history of the world's races. Mr. Mitchell Hedges and Lady (Richmond) Brown this year presented the British Museum with the largest ethnological collections ever received at one time, which they brought from Chucumque.

"Not a single specimen analogous to any in this vast collection can be found in any museum in the world," he said. "Our forthcoming expedition has the support of the British Museum."

"We shall cut 120 miles south of Belize and then strike 65 miles inland into the impenetrable bush, where the temperature averages 105 degrees in the shade and where it is generally conceded that the maximum life, as conditions are to-day, for white human beings in that region is 7 days. This fact will necessitate our frequent return to the coast. In the bush the insect pests are rife and include mosquitoes, ticks, sand flies, Botlas flies, and others, and they prey the whole time on every exposed part of the flesh, filling the system with poison and draining life away."

"These dangers make the region one of the deadliest as to climatic conditions in the world."

EDUCATION BOARD.

EXAMINATION SYSTEM DISCUSSED.

DIRECTOR'S STATEMENT.

There was not a great deal of business at the meeting of the Education Committee held in the Sanitary Board room yesterday afternoon but an interesting statement on current work of the department was given by Mr. G. N. Orme, the Director of Education.

Amongst the subjects touched upon by Mr. Orme were those of examinations; whether they did not overshadow school work in Hongkong and whether it was desirable that the school year should finish artificially with the completion of the matriculation; the desirability of British children in Hongkong, particularly those who would remain here, acquiring knowledge of the Chinese language, and prospects regarding educational facilities in the neighbourhood of Quarry Bay.

Mr. Orme presided and others present were: Dr. A. D. Hickling, M.B.E., Rev. T. W. Pearce, O.B.E., LL.D., Capt. A. E. Watts, Dr. Wan Man-kei, Mr. A. E. B. Silva Netto, Mr. L. Forster, Mr. E. Ralphs (Inspector of English Schools), Mr. A. R. Cavalier (Inspector of Vernacular Schools) and Mr. G. P. de Martin (Hon. Secretary).

Chairman's Review.

The chairman's review, more in detail, was as follows:—

The work at the present time was largely carried on under the shadow, or with the view to, coming examinations; or actually in the midst of examinations. It was a question which occurred to him very often and which he would like members to consider, whether perhaps they did not work a little too much under the shadow of examinations. It was a matter that he proposed going into as time went on and it had particularly to do with the end of the school year. It ended with the Matriculation examination, which possibly Mr. Forster would have something to say about, and caused them to end the year rather abruptly at the end of November. Of course examinations, as they all knew, were good servants but had masters, and they must try and avoid as far as they could allowing examinations to become their master, or mistress perhaps, and see they made use of them only as an aid to the work and not as work having to be carried on with any particular deference to needs which were not the needs of the pupils. He mentioned that general question because he would like the members of the Board to suggest to him how far they were in agreement with the present system of ending the school year at the end of November; and he would like to know from Dr. Wan and Mr. Tso, as representing the Chinese Vernacular Schools, whether they found any difficulties in this respect. At the same time they wanted to work as far as possible with the University authorities in the matter of Matriculation, and would not change unless there was cogent need or advisability of having a more natural ending date. It would seem possible that they had been losing sight of the ends rather than the means in making their schools end at what appeared to him to be an artificial date. That had reference to all schools.

British Schools Progress.

With reference to British Schools, the Chairman said that there had been more changes than last year. The number of pupils had been increasing throughout the year. To meet that, they had increased the staff in several of the British Schools. In the Central British School they had recently imported and it was now being installed, an entirely new and, he hoped, satisfactory equipment for teaching physics and chemistry, which he was sure was already of great interest, and he hoped, would be of great value to the boys in the school. Mrs. Hickling and the members would regret to hear that the medical inspection that was due recently had not yet been carried through, but it was hoped it would be done shortly. Members would see a ray of light in the recent Budget speech in the hope that before long they would have a permanent officer to deal with this vital question.

The Junior School at Kowloon had had a considerable increase in pupils, especially among the infant classes, and they had just sent an additional mistress over there to minister to them.

The Victoria British School had undergone a decline for obvious reasons connected with the opening of Quarry Bay School. That was inevitable but, of course, as the development of the East end of the town continued it was almost equally inevitable that the numbers would once more recover and the use of the School would again be as great as before. There had been an idea abroad that the School might be closed down for want of numbers, but he would like to say that on the contrary they were hoping almost immediately to have a new site available. It was at present partly occupied by some temporary stables of Jardines; but they hoped that they would very soon be made available and that it would be possible to commence building operations.

B. & S. Thanked.

The Quarry Bay School was still young, but was, he thought, a very promising youngster, and under Mrs. Weston's able guidance it had fairly established itself, although at present it was only in temporary quarters, for which they were indebted to Messrs. Butterfield and Swire. They were also indebted to that firm for very much assistance and interest in the work going on down there. They had made gifts to the School to help in the work. The Chairman also mentioned that Messrs. Butterfield and Swire had also been interested in the education of their staff in the neighbourhood by starting a vernacular school down there, which, he believed, would accomplish very good work, and he was sure would bring reward in the interests and welfare of the staff. As they knew, the new School was now under way, and the question would arise before long as to whether it was possible to make the School serve for the needs of the children up to a much later date than the ordinary Junior School, so that the children would not have to make a long journey to Kowloon but would be able to continue their studies to a later age in the Quarry Bay School. That was a matter which required some consideration and some adjustment, but he hoped that they would be able to arrange for the children to continue their studies at the School if at all possible.

The Chairman expressed his desire to see British children out here, and especially those who were going to remain, get more benefit from the fact of their exile in the way of acquiring a certain amount of the Chinese language and also some Chinese culture as well. There was a Chinese class in the Kowloon School, but he thought it might be made more useful for those children who were going to spend the rest of their lives out here.

Ying Wah Closing?

The inspection of Grant Schools had been occupying some of the time of the staff, and was now nearly at an end. This year the Grant Schools had received one reinforcement in St. Stephen's Girls' College which had now come on to the list. He very much regretted, as he was sure all the members would regret, that they were soon to lose, for a time at least, the Ying Wah College from their list. Under Mr. Phillips it had done very good work in the past. It owed its conception very much to their friend, Dr. Pearce. It was his duty to say, closing its doors for a time, but they would always have the pleasure of looking back upon the very good work done for the Chinese people. He hoped it would not be far distant when the School would find means of continuing its good work in the future.

In conclusion, the Chairman mentioned that before the next meeting the Department would have moved into the adjoining P. and O. building, with offices and Board room on the fourth floor.

Other Business.

Arising out of the recommendation of the Vernacular Sub-Committee as to the appointment of an adviser on vernacular studies and headmaster of the Vernacular Normal School, to be termed part-time Senior Lecturer, Mr. Orme referred to the fourth recommendation of the committee which he said would place him (the Chairman) in a difficulty if he had to make a rule of referring questions of appointments to a sub-committee.

After discussion, it was decided to adopt the report with the substitution of the words "creation of new posts" for "questions of such appointments."

Mr. Silva Netto asked whether tenders had been invited for the building of Quarry Bay School.

The Chairman replied that the contract had already been let. The cost of the new School would be $120,000, the lowest tender, and as far as his recollection went, the contract had gone to the firm of King On.

Rev. T. W. Pearce referred to the study of the Chinese language and Chinese culture in British Schools, and asked how many pupils of non-Chinese parents were at present studying Chinese in the Schools.

The Chairman replied that he had not the information before him, but he thought there were very few—half a dozen.

Rev. T. W. Pearce pointed out that the University made special provision for examining, in Chinese, children of non-Chinese parents. He thought the subject should be encouraged.

FIRE FIGHTERS.

FINE DISPLAY GIVEN AT "CENTRAL."

As briefly reported in yesterday's issue, the annual drill display of the Hongkong Fire Brigade took place yesterday afternoon on the Central Police Station compound. The programme was carried out under the supervision of the Hon. Mr. E. D. C. Wolfe (Chief Officer), Mr. H. T. Brooks (Superintendent), Messrs. G. C. Moss and G. Saunders (Station Officers), and four Chinese sub-officers. The Brigade was at full strength, all the various units participating. The interesting programme, in which was included the finals of several competitions, was as follows:—

List of Events.

1.—Picking up an insensible person—"fireman's lift" (15 men.)
2.—Despatch Box Competition Drill—final, two crews per drill:—(a) three men, (b) two men and (c) one man.

3.—Smoke Helmet Drill—fire assumed to be a smoky job in basement. For this there is a system of signals by line and air tube, as follows:—pull on line means man is alright; two pulls mean turn on hydrant; three pulls mean more hose; four pulls mean turn off hydrant and one pull on air tube means more air required. The use of a hand-controlled branch will also be demonstrated, spray (used to beat down smoke), open jet and shut off.

4.—Motor Escape Competition Drill—final, two crews per drill. Competitors have to effect the rescue of two persons from a second floor by carrying down and creating hydrant to work on the first floor.

5.—Jumping Sheet, described as an irregular but useful means of escape.

6.—Another means of escape—(and rescue.)

7.—Escape by Canvas Chute. This method, although not in general use by Brigades, has been adopted here with a view to effecting a quick rescue of a large number of persons as might be found on any one floor of a Chinese tenement dwelling. An average of 7 persons a minute can be rescued in this manner.

8.—Motor Pump Competition Drill—final, two crews to compete.

9.—Use of "Foam Compound" Extinctors on burning liquid.

10.—Motor Pump Drill.

Interested Spectators.

In addition to a large number of spectators who watched the proceedings from every available space of the square, quite a number had secured points of vantage on the floors of the buildings.

The public seldom get an opportunity to see the varied turns—some of an extremely dangerous nature—which our fire-fighters are called upon to perform in actual action, and to the spectator the display was interesting as well as instructive. With "targets" and "damaged hose" playing havoc, many of the onlookers were forced to share in the fireman's love for water, and this provided some amusement to those who were wise enough to take up positions away from the scene of action. That the display had a touch of reality may be gauged from a remark made by a person coming down the first floor that he actually thought there was a fire there as the hose was playing freely inside the office!

Many "Casualties."

Rescue work of a hazardous nature was shown in the Motor Escape Competition Drill in which the collapsible extension ladder was used and the "casualties" brought down from the second floor. This provided a close finish, the difference in time between the first and second crews being only one-fifth of a second. Item No. 6—another means of escape—demonstrated the possibility of escape and rescue from a great height by the rope and pulley method. The escape by Canvas Chute demonstrated quick rescue work—an average of seven persons a minute—from any one floor of a Chinese tenement dwelling. The Jumping Sheet, described as an irregular but useful means of escape, provided some amusement to the onlookers as the dangers attending a leap from a height were apparent in the facial expressions and bodily movements of those who gave the demonstration.

Prize Distribution.

At the conclusion of the display, the Hon. Mr. E. D. C. Wolfe, Chief Officer of the Fire Brigade, made a short speech through the megaphone. He said: Ladies and gentlemen, before giving away the prizes, I should like to express our thanks to the Hongkong Fire Insurance Co., Ltd., for presenting this handsome cup; in addition to which the other prizes are also due to their generosity. The prizes were then distributed by Mrs. Wolfe, who was presented at the close with a beautiful bouquet.

The prize list is as under:—
MOTOR ESCAPE COMPETITION:—Drill:—Winners: 6 men, cup and prizes; runners-up 5 men, prizes. Both the crews belong to Central Station.

U.S. ELECTIONS.

CALVIN COOLIDGE ELECTED EASILY.

"MA" AS GOVERNOR.

(Reuter's American Service.)

New York, November 5.

While official figures are not yet available, Mr. Coolidge seems certain of re-election by a sweeping majority. Both the "World" and the "Times" have conceded victory to Mr. Coolidge by twenty-two hours, though the returns are very incomplete, especially from the Western States. It is noteworthy that later returns even in the historically Democratic South, are showing scattered signs of Republican tendencies.

Though Mr. Roosevelt has a large majority outside the City, all indications are that this will be overcome by the enormous vote Mr. Smith is receiving in New York City.

Though the ballots in all States have not yet been counted there is every likelihood that President Coolidge and Gen. Dawes have over 300 of the 531 votes of the electoral college. "Ma" Ferguson was victorious in the contest for the governorship of Texas. Governor Smith won New York. Hitherto the Republicans have secured a net gain of six seats in the House of Representatives.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE'S LEAD.

At 3.50 this morning President Coolidge has now apparently a commanding lead in twenty States with a total of 270 electoral votes, and is ahead in thirteen other States having 88 electoral votes. Failing a setback in the belated returns he will receive a substantial majority over Mr. Davis, who hitherto is assured of 136 electoral votes and Mr. LaFollette who has thirteen.

Mr. Coolidge has been re-elected.

The American electorate yesterday gave the world another great Conservative victory. Although the ballots of all States are not yet counted President Coolidge has been elected President and General Dawes Vice-President by an immense majority.

The votes cast for Mr. Davis and Mr. LaFollette did not reach anything like the expectations of the Democratic and Progressive leaders. The latest returns show that Mr. LaFollette was a bad third.

President Coolidge's victory in the East and Middle West, also in some States of the Far West was overwhelming. Mr. Davis apparently won only the "Solid South" which is always Democratic, while Mr. LaFollette apparently was only able to win his home State of Wisconsin. So far there is no indication that the Ku Klux Klan anywhere cut any figure.

A LITTLE BIG MAN.

A BIT ABOUT "THE KID."

That a boy of eight should have his arrival in London, chronicled in the press as if he were at least heir to a throne is one of the curiosities of modern life. Three years ago no one has heard of Jackie Coogan, yet he arrived in England accompanied by two secretaries, a valet, his parents, and a nurse. Jackie Coogan is a little boy of importance judged by the dollar standard. He earns an enormous sum each year, and it is put into a trust fund. When he grows up, and from all accounts he is quite a normal little boy, he will be a wealthy man. Yet barely three years ago he was sitting solemnly in the lounge of a Los Angeles hotel where he attracted the attention of Charlie Chaplin, who was so struck by the child's quaintness that he decided to build a film round him. The result was "The Kid" which is now showing at the Coronet. In this film Charlie Chaplin broke from his old farces and gave full scope to his powers of expressing pathos. Jackie Coogan, in his baggy trousers buttoning under his arms, was worthy to work with the celebrated film genius. The five-year-old boy was a miniature Charlie Chaplin, and cooked pancakes and assisted his father's profession of glazier by breaking windows with all Charlie's quaint solemnity. And all this he does, and more, as those who are thronging the Coronet are finding out to their great content.

MOTOR PUMP COMPETITION:—Winners 7 men, prizes; runners-up 7 men, prizes. The winners and runners-up also belong to Central Station.

DESPATCH BOX COMPETITION:—Three-men drill, Central Station; two-men drill, Central Station; one-man drill, Kennedy-Town sub-station. Each of the winners received a prize.

NAVAL APPOINTMENT.

GROWING IMPORTANCE OF COLOMBO.

The following is taken from the "Ceylon Observer" of October 6:—

The "Times" commenting on the appointment of Engineer Commander W. S. Damant, D.S.O., M.V.O., as Resident Engineer, Colombo, observes that the appointment indicates the growing importance of Colombo as a rendezvous for ships of the East Indies Squadron. Commander Damant, in 1923 served on board the "Royal Yacht."

The Resident Naval Engineer will have his headquarters at Colombo which has been growing in importance since Bombay was closed down as the headquarters of the ships of the East Indies Squadron. Owing to the fact that the docking of all ships of this squadron is being now done in Colombo, the services of a Resident Engineer were found essential; hence the appointment of Eng-Com. Damant.

His duties will include the supervision of refitting of naval vessels at this port. No information is available as to the date of the arrival of the new officer, but it may be mentioned that the appointment was anticipated in local naval circles for some months past. Reference has already been made to the proposed strengthening of the East Indies Squadron. A new type of boats—the Ebbingham class—will before long be replacing the "Chatham," "Colombo" and the "Cairo" which are all to go to England for refitting.

The new type boats are light cruisers of a little over 9,000 tons displacement, carrying 7.5 in. guns, six 8 in. guns and four 3 in. guns, so that they are far superior to the C class that are now stationed here. These, it is understood, are only the forerunners of improvements that are to be effected in the East Indies Squadron. While "Colombo" will be the chief headquarters of the Commander-in-Chief Trincomalee will be more frequently visited.

LOVE AND DEATH.

REVELATIONS IN LONDON FLAT TRAGEDY.

RICH MAN AND SERVANT.

London, September 13.—The discovery of the dead bodies of a man and woman in a flat at Prince of Wales Mansions, Battersea, London, has led to a remarkable revelation. The man, who had four bullet wounds on the body, was a financier named Albert Michael Joshua, whose town residence is in Great Cumberland Place, Battersea; and the woman, with one bullet wound, was a housemaid known as Peggy Mercer, her Christian name being Irene Victoria Maud.

At the inquest on Tuesday the Coroner said there was no doubt that the "Basil" so frequently referred to by Miss Mercer was Joshua. He had evidently made the deceased young woman's acquaintance, according to her own letters, about two years ago, and had formed a liaison with this young woman, who was very much younger and belonged to a totally different class. Her diary showed that they had been meeting practically every Sunday and every Tuesday from January to August, with a few intervals when Mr. Joshua was away. They had been going together to the pictures and theatres, and he was teaching her to drive a motor car in Richmond Park. They had been to Sunningdale for golf and spending these days every week apparently in each other's company.

Then the deceased man went off to Norfolk with his wife, and after staying there for some time returned to London, and resumed his meetings with the deceased girl, according to the diary.

GIRL'S LAST ENTRY IN DIARY.

The last entry was for the September 11.—"Monday Basil goes to business. Hopes to return 7.30." The last newspaper taken in was dated September 2, and on Friday, September 5, these two people were found lying in the drawing-room of the flat, where the deceased girl was a general servant.

The Coroner read a letter from the woman to her sister which contained the following statements:—

"Dearest Phil—I hope you will forgive me for my cowardly act, but I have fully decided to end it. I have kept a secret from you that I know now the time has come for me to tell you of it. I married Basil a year ago last June. He told me then that he had divorced his wife, and that he only lived with her for the sake of his daughters. Phil, dear, he has deceived me; but, although I know this, I still love him, and I know that he loves me, for he would never have taken that great risk."

"I cannot tell you how I have lived since he told me the truth. I am afraid every day that someone is coming for him. You know what it will mean if his wife finds out. Not that she will, otherwise she would have done so long ago."

"Basil has destroyed the marriage lines and all the letters, so nobody will know. Don't even tell Babs."

"MY DEAR HUSBAND."

The Coroner said there was another torn piece of paper in her handwriting, dated March 10, saying:—"My Dear Husband—I have received your short note to-day. I beg and implore of you to give up this marriage. She is only making your life miserable. We are drifting further and further apart. The Coroner—It is torn there." "I know you want me too. You have been very depressed of late. I am sure you have something worrying you. Won't you tell your own little wife? I want to share your troubles. Are you worried about what you have told me?" (The Coroner—Then it breaks off.)

The Coroner added that that letter was proved to be in her handwriting, but he did not know whether it was addressed to Mr. Joshua or not. If it was, she was referring to him in March as her husband, and herself as his wife.

WIDOW'S EVIDENCE.

Among the witnesses was the deceased's widow, who had travelled from Liverpool, where she and her husband had been staying. She said she had never heard her husband called Basil, and there had never been unhappiness between her husband and herself.

Elsie Phyllis Amy Mercer, in her evidence, said that her sister had threatened to kill herself and her lover when she found out a month ago that he was married. Her bright disposition changed, and she became depressed, and the witness became medical on seeing her sister's letter. She only knew the man as Basil Montague.

Dr. Palmer, divisional surgeon, said the man's wounds seemed to have been received while he was crouching and advancing. Death had occurred probably three days before the discovery.

M. M. Mercer, sister, by whom the girl was engaged, said she had seen a letter addressed by her to "M. Joshua, Esq. Constitutional Club."

HONGKONG TIDE.

The tide-table given below has been compiled at the National Almanac Office in London from the result of the analysis of observations taken by means of an automatic tide-recording machine in the Water Police Basin at Tsim Sha Tsui during the years 1908-9.

The zero of the table corresponds with the zero of the sounding in the Admiralty Chart, which has been found to be 4 feet 3 inches below mean sea-level. To obtain the depth of water on the tide gauge at the Victoria Naval Yard add 8 feet 4 inches, and on the gauge at Lamont Dock, Aberdeen, add 10 feet 4 inches to the height given in the table.

AN IRAQI JEST.

WHO WOULD DRINK ITS WEALTH OF OIL?

Somebody once remarked that "a joke's a very serious thing" and he was right—especially when Iraq oil is the subject of the jest, says the "Times" of Mesopotamia. A recent flash of humour in the British Parliament has been misinterpreted by one of the less intelligent of the Baghdad newspapers, which was much alarmed by Mr. Thomas's recent observation on the "drinking" of oil. An attempt to explain a joke is always depressing, but for the benefit of some of our Iraqi friends we think it advisable to point out that when Lieut. Commander Kenworthy repeated the rumour that "Certain prominent critics of British policy in Iraq have offered to drink all the oil ever found in that country," he was merely presenting the point of view of many people who contend that the so-called oil wealth of Iraq is still mythical—i.e., up to the present there is nothing to prove that it is obtainable in commercial quantities. And when Mr. Thomas observed that "if a number of people whom he knew would guarantee to drink the oil found in Iraq he would be delighted," he merely hinted at his own belief that Iraq does contain oil in paying quantities, and that if some of his enemies would drink it they would suffer an early death, which would cause him great satisfaction! He did not mean to suggest that British profiteers should fatten on profits derived from the crude oil of Iraq, as though it were a kind of financier's cod liver oil.
